Pioneers' Golden Wedding Celebrated At Nightingale

One of the happiest events that has taken place for many years was the celebration of the Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McLean, at Nightingale, Alberta, at Nightingale Hall on Wednesday, November 17th.

The hall was nicely decorated with gold and white bolls and streamers, and the tables were decorated with cypress branches and carnations. Mr. McLean wore a black satin gown with touches of gold lace, also a diamond chain ring, the gift of Mr. McLean.

There were many presents, including a silver tea service and gold walking stick inscribed to mother and son. From the family, the other presents consisted of a basket of flowers, a silver cake stand, radio, salad bowl, silver tray, gold coins, silver egg stand, Morris chair, gold mounted pipe and a bouquet of flowers was presented on behalf of the grandchildren by Myrtle Hutchinson, grandchild, to grandsons and granddaughters.

The tables richly groined beneath the good things to eat; and after everyone had done ample justice, the toast to "Our Host and Hostesses" was proposed by Mr. Steve Chamberlain, and was received with musical honors. Mr. McLean responded in a very nice speech.

After the tables were cleared a splendid programme was presented to the delight of everyone, the following artists taking part: Miss Garrett, Miss Fredericks, Mrs. Thurston, Mr. Noel, Mr. Ferguson, Mr. F. Cost and Mr. McQueen with the bagpipes.

Some community singing was indulged in the shape of old-time songs. Old time dances were the order of the evening to the strains of the Glenorchestra. Auld Lang Syne was sung by all about three in the morning before the party broke up, and everyone expressed themselves as to it being one of the best parties they have had the pleasure of attending.

Mr. and Mrs. McLean were married at Dunblair, Scotland, in 1876. Two years after their marriage they left for the Falkland Islands, the most southerly British possession. One recalls the connection of the Falkland Islands with the great victory of Admiral Sturdee during the Boer War, when he annihilated the German Admiral's Von Spees, ships, which had been raiding the Pacific. The population of the island is only 2,000 people, with upward of a million sheep.

In this lonely outpost the McLeans lived for 25 years, after which they sailed for Western Canada, settling in the part that is now called Nightingale.

In 1900 when they settled in Canada only a few families were located on the unbroken land. Succeeding settlers passed on through the district, going north and west, it being supposed that the aridity of the land made it useless for cultivation. Those who had settled in the district went in for ranching rather than cultivation, and the McLeans family did not settle there for the purpose of tilling the land.

Mr. McLean has been interested in sheep raising all his life, and it was his occupation that he carried on when he settled down on the banks of the Serviceberry, a mile east of Nightingale, where his home is now located. When Mr. McLean took up his residence Strathmore was not in existence, and their nearest point for mail provisions was Chaudi, Calgary and Griefen.

The family saw what was the beginning of the present town of Strathmore, when the section house was moved on flat cars from near Eagle Lake to where it now stands. They experienced many trials for a few years, a large number of their sheep being killed by spear grass and general unfavourable conditions. After these reverses, however, the flock grew and prospered, and at one time there were nearly two thousand sheep on the ranch.

ROSEBUD

The Altar Society of the Catholic Church wish to thank all who generously contributed to their Bazaar and dance, and especially Mr. Dan Macdonald for his assistance.

R. W. Brunner was a business visitor to Calgary last week, as was W. J. Dixon.

James Finch has shipped his cattle to Calgary that he was not disposed of at his sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Farrell and children have gone to Alton, Sask., for a few weeks stay with Mr. O'Farrell's brother.

Mrs. Lulu Parker and Mr. Wilbur Payne were Calgary visitors last week, stopping with Mrs. Warren Riley.

Mr. Lester Cox has been called to Spokane, Wash., by the illness of his brother, William. Mr. Cox, Rayburn is looking after the barber shop and pool room during Mr. Cox's absence.

On Tuesday, the funeral of the two little sons of Mr. and Mrs. O'Farrell took place at Rockyford. The beautiful children's service of the Catholic Church was held by the Rev. Father, in St. Rita's Church. Over seventy cars, filled with friends, followed the remains, unto testimony of the sympathy of the community. Eight school mates of the children acted as pallbearers; they were: Bruce Sangster, Mark Stitt, Grant Defoe, Kay Christensen, Verno Barlow, Ralph Samuelsen, Eddie O'Farrell, Chas. Wright. CARSELAND

There will be a meeting of the Carseland U.F.W.A. on Saturday afternoon, November 27. Every member is urged to be present.

The old weather is holding up work on the hall. However, much has been accomplished so far.

The Ladies Aid did very well at their bazaar last Friday. The ladies wish to thank all those who helped make it a success.

The undersigned wishes to take this opportunity to state that he has not sent in any Carseland news since last May. The credit of keeping the Carseland column alive during the last few months belongs elsewhere.—G. C. McQuay.

The big question now is where to get a furnace large enough to heat our Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hebbes, of Vancouver, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Phillips.

Quite a number from here planned on attending the welcome banquet to President Wood last Thursday, but owing to the storm were disappointed. Alfred Anderson and Bill Bergquist were the only ones able to get away.

The School Board found it necessary to put a stove in the West basement room. They are also considering the advisability of putting stoves on the north side of the school.

It is rumored that one kindly disposed person of the community has offered to put on the gloves in an exhibition bout for the benefit of the Hall fund. He asks only one condition, namely: that the proper person be persuaded to meet him. The tickets will sell easily for five dollars.

SUCCESSFUL SALE AT CANADIAN PACIFIC SUPPLY FARM

The sale of purebred stock at the Canadian Pacific Supply farm last week was very satisfactory. The dairyman of Alberta were well represented, and B. A. Carter, who resides at Sundre, west of Olds, purchased what was probably the best bay at the sale, a fine young Holstein bull, and paid $170 for him. For $200. This youngster was junior champion at Edmonton, and his dam made a record of 20,000 lbs. of milk in three years. The representative of the Department of Agriculture of the Dominion Government took quite a fancy to a fine young bull, and paid $170 for him. G. M. Chaffey, of Olds, captured for $190 Strathmore Sir Maple Fairchild, and A. Burrows, of Weyburn, Sask., made a fine addition to his herd, by securing three fine cows.

Each year the dairy herds of the province are being considerably improved through these sales, and Manager Jones is to be congratulated upon the success of this sale, in presenting such a fine line of stock for distribution throughout the province.

The "Minister's Bride" at the Memorial Hall

The Dramatic Society of the United Church, displayed nothing of the amateur in presenting the "Minister's Bride," a highly humorous and entertaining farce, on Thursday night at the Memorial Hall; when each performer in his or her role, was quite professional—this was the general consensus of opinion of those present.

A reception for the Minister's Bride, of probably thirty or forty years ago, the stress of the time, did create no little part of the amusement of the audience.

Farce? possibly not, though today the advice and curiosity might be covered with a little more discretion and diplomacy.

There were the usual characters to be found: The Groom (Mr. C. C. Walker) acted the part of "his reverence" so well one might have thought he was the time considered "domin the cloth."

His Bride (Mrs. Nels White), the timid, retiring, overwrought, new wife of the manse.

A nagging wife (Mrs. C. A. Lydian) and her poor henpecked husband (Mr. P. A. Perry) whom she dominated in every way.

An shaming young lady (Miss Cope) who well the part, while Mr. Ben McKay, that of a very shy young man was presented so realistically that but few realized that Don was not acting, but simply presenting his own "true self". The sympathies of the audience were enlisted for one so exceedingly shy.

Without unkind discrimination, the roll par excellence, was the part played by Mr. T. Gatenby, who was so admirably in the part, while Mr. Ben McKay, that of a very shy young man was presented so realistically that but few realized that Don was not acting, but simply presenting his own "true self". The sympathies of the audience were enlisted for one so exceedingly shy.

Mr. Thornhill's monologue was a very humorous word picture of the boy tourists receive in exhibiting the "snaps" they have taken during a trip, to more or less interested listeners.

In addition to the play the following entertainers contributed to the program: Little Mary Rowe, whose baby voice was sweet in "Three Blind Mice". Miss Alice Garrett sang "The Red, Red Robin" in a voice sweet and sure, the singer of which, it is to be credited to the work of Mr. C. A. Lydian.

While there was a very large attendance for the uniting work in preparation and his work behind the scenes. The musical selections were very popular, and an important factor in the success of which, it is to be credited to the work of Mr. C. A. Lydian.

Of Western Canada. The dairy business in the west is but in its infancy and such sales will be very important factors in its development.

CANADIAN APPLE ORCHARDS BECOMING VERY VALUABLE

MONTREAL, Que.—The value of apple orchards in Canada today is $120,000,000; and production has increased in the past fifteen years from $12,000,000 to $27,000,000 annually, according to G. E. Menzies, Dominion Fruit Commissioner. "And yet," the commissioner points out, "since 1919 there has been a reduction of 95,000 acres devoted to apples. There is no over-production of fruit in Canada but there is underconsumption, despite the supremacy of the Canadian apple."

HEARD ON THE STREET

"Say," yelled the farmer who owned the land, "don't you see that sign: 'No Hunting Here'?"

"I sure do," said the disgusted hunter. "When Percy Pariah painted that sign he knew what he was talking about!"

Housewife: "I've cut my finger. Look how it bleeds!"

Maid: "You want something you can twist round it. I will fetch your hand!"

A customer, not in the pleasantest of moods, repaired to Bob Anderson's barber shop, and, consequently, he found the barber's conversation rather tedious.

"I want any extras," he snapped savagely to the persuasions of the hairdresser. "I'll ask for it?"

"Right," said Bob, and there was silence for a time.

Shampoo, sir?

"No!" shouted the other. "Shut up!" Presently Bob finished.

"Sorry I was rude," said the customer.

"I understand," replied Bob. "I'm married myself."

Together they had broken a wish bone and she held the longest piece.

"Now, what shall I wish for?" he mused. "Ideally, I can't think."

"O, wish for anything," suggested Jimmie Weir.

But still her brow wore a puckered frown.

"O, well, if it's as hard as all that, I'll wish for you," he said gallantly.

"O, Jimmie," she cried happily, "you really wish for me, dear? This is so sudden!"

Jeon Giroux took in the picture film at Hattie's Theatre on Friday night, when Lillian Gish featured as "Neil Gwynne." Jean says he never enjoyed a film more, and "Lillian" sure looked good to him.

She (cooly): "But, Harold, are you sure you love me?"

Smithy: "Well, what do you suppose I'm doing—trying to wrestle?"

Tony McKinley says in traveling around you meet a lot of queer people. If you call a girl a chick, she smiles; call her a hen and she howls. Call a young woman a witch and she is pleased; call an old woman a witch and she is indignant. Call a girl a kitten and she rather likes it; call a woman a cat and she hates you. Women are queer.

If you call a man a gay dog, it will bother him; call him a pup, a hound, or a cur, and he will try to alter the map of your face. He doesn't mind being called a bull or a bear, yet he will object to being mentioned as a cat or a cub. Men are queer too.

Daughter: "He's frightfully attractive, I think."

Mother: "I can't see it."

Daughter: "Good Heavens, do you mean to say you can't see that big new sedan that he bought from New White?"

Percy Pariah: "I hear the preacher thinks your daughter has a real genius for reciting."

Frank Miller: "Yes. All she wants is a course of electrocution."

Glady: "Don't you love driving on a night like this?"

Jimmie: "Yes, but I thought I would wait till we got farther out in the country."

Busy Boss: "Take the message, please, and I'll get it from you a little later."

Stenographer: "But I can't, sir."

Busy Boss: "Go ahead and do as I say."

Stenographer: "All right, but if it makes trouble don't blame me. She insists on making a date with you for the Elk's dance on Friday, November 26."

Words that are never heard: "I love to see a man smoke a pipe," said the cigarette manufacturer.

Jack: "When did swimming become a national sport in Scotland?"

Pete Teller: "Hurry it along."

Jack: "When they erected toll bridges."

Jack: "When did swimming become a national sport in Scotland?"

Pete Teller: "Hurry it along."

Jack: "When they erected toll bridges."

Smithy: "A woman just led to me."

"Smoochy": "That's no reason for jumping out. What did she like about?"

Smithy: "She told me her husband was in Calgary."

The modernists say: "There ain't no such thing as a free lunch!"

The fundamentalists answer: "The Lord there ain't!"

It is currently reported that Ernie Whiteside ALMOST got a wild goose while out hunting a few days ago.

Dawson's Duck case is still in the hands of Constable Tate, and it has been discovered that the first assaulter was directed towards the Soviet musician was in error.

King Kelly maintains that simply because he invited a few friends in for a duck supper is no reason that every time he meets Constable Tate that the latter should persist in referring to the fact that Dawson's Duck has not yet been located.

Bill Tierney in telling a few war stories the other night, was extolling the virtues and qualities of the members of his regiment, and the work that they did in the Great War.

"Why," said he, "ONE DAY we marched 200 miles and drove the enemy back."

Customer: "I want to buy some rope—my cow he changes his hide every night."

Mr. Hollinger: "How's that?"

Customer: "One night he hide in the creek, other night he hide in the bush. Want to be him up?"

Two elderly spinsters were spending the night together. Composed for sleep, one suddenly nudged the other violently in the ribs:

"Did you hear that noise?" she demanded in a scared whisper. "It sounded as if a man were under the bed."

"You bet I heard it," replied her companion, "and I want it distinctly understood that I heard it first."

Norman Gatesby: "What are your two highest ambitions?"

Jim Weir: "Himself first, and brunt after second!"

"There's no justice, snap!" Bob Hamblly. "If you make out your income tax correctly you go to the poor house. If you don't you go to jail."

King Kelly says:

King David and son Solomon

Led merry, merry lives,

With many, many happy friends

And many, many wives.

But when old age crept over them

With its remorseful quins:

King Solomon wrote the Proverbs,

King David wrote the Psalms.

Eighteen years ago, Harold Smith says he knew a cute little baby. She liked her bottle. She liked to ride in a little cart and have her daddy steer it. Then she liked to have him stop and take her on his knee and pet her. He always did.

Now she is a cute little jazz baby. She likes her bottle. She likes to ride in a little car and have her "daddy" steer it. Then she liked to have him stop and take her on his knee and pet her. He always does!

One stunt of a conjurer, recently playing at Calgary, was turning a handful of colored rags into a new evening gown. Jim Swanson says he can't understand why he needed a whole handful of rags.

Fred Dunn says that getting a baby to sleep is hardest when she is about eighteen years old.

Bobble: "What in the world is a metaphor?"

Allice: "To keep cows in, stupid."

Bill Wilkinson says it is better to be happy while you're poor; you may be rich some day and can't.

Now, as I write this with some speed. My brother John does program read of a great meet, not far away.

Then after that, to lunch we sit.

PROGRESS BEING MADE TOWARDS REST ROOM

The mayor and town councillors have done a fine piece of work in assisting financially the Women's Institute to obtain the necessary funds to establish a rest room for the women of Strathmore and the Bow Valley. This very necessary service is now almost assured if Reeve H. S. G. Chamberlain and the councillors of the M. B. of Bow Valley come across liberally with further assistance when the deputation from the Women's Institute waits upon them.

That they may do so may be satisfied, as that body have intimated to the town council that they favored such a scheme, in fact Councillor Weyers at one time moved before the Strathmore Council asking that such a service was needed and should be provided.

Reeve Chamberlain and the Councilors can well afford to be liberal with the Women's Institute, who are very much obsessed with the need of the Rest Room, and are prepared to do a great deal of work in order to make it a success.

Particularly is this the case when so many of the wives and daughters of the ratepayers will receive a direct benefit.

If the proposition was not one of merit, it would have had but little consideration from the Town Council, who never were much in sympathy with attempting this service, until the Women's Institute took up the matter seriously, and created a confidence that the work would be carried on in a business-like manner, and that a genuine service would be forthcoming that would be a credit to the town of Strathmore, and a real service to the women and children of the Bow Valley.

BUYING EARLY AIDS SHOPPER AND MERCHANT

Early Christmas Shopping is becoming a practice that is observed very generally. The public, no longer, endeavors to crowd their Xmas purchases into the last week before the holiday, thereby making themselves an impatient, while at the same time working a hardship upon the merchants and their staff of employees.

For a long time the public failed to realize that the slogan "Do Your Shopping Early" was fully as much, in fact more, in the interests of the shoppers, rather than in the interests of the merchants.

Early shopping gives the customer ample time to make satisfactory selections from the more complete stocks.

Get obsessed with the idea that a month from tomorrow is Xmas Day. DO IT NOW.

GET BUSY ABOUT CLEARING THE SNOW

The recent fall of snow brings to attention of the public the necessity of such residents having the snow removed promptly from in front of his residence and place of business.

In fact, we understand, that there is an effective bylaw covering this work, and for non-performance of its provisions a stiff penalty is provided. Notwithstanding this, its application is most apparent by the non-observance, and possibly the worst offender is the Town Council in regard to the property now controlled by the town itself.

There is absolutely no need of the women and children of the town being forced to wade through snow banks, and at the same time give the town the appearance of a backwoods village.

REAL DANGER EXISTS AT RAILWAY STATION

About two months ago the Standard drew attention to the danger existing through the allowing children to make use of the railway yards as a play ground.

Disgracefully, that information did not meet with a very cordial reception, in fact, that condition has been allowed to continue, while in one speech the mayor suggested that her Willie or Johnny was quite capable of taking care of himself; to use a well known slang expression, "we should worry".

The recent unfortunate accident in the railway yard at Rossburg, in which the lives of two bright O'Farrell lads were snuffed out in a jiffy vividly brings before us, and further intensifies the thought of the danger that exists in Strathmore.

Only a few days ago, Councillor Harry Miner, as mild a man as ever stepped a ship, forcibly detained one youth who was endeavoring to crawl under a passenger train that had just reached the yard, and which was hardly at a standstill when the attempt was made, while at the same time the companion of that boy succeeded in successfully navigating the danger zone, happily without injury. Nevertheless, the practise should be discontinued, and the railway authorities are not doing their duty while the practise is permitted. The property is a private one, and Mr. McArthur, of Medicine Hat should make some arrangements to enforce the trespassing regulation, through detailing some official for special duty on a short time.

Agent Perry, with his manifold duties to fulfill in connection with express, baggage, tickets, freight, and telegraph, cannot possibly give attention to duties of this character, and should not be expected to do so. It would not take long to educate the children to find other play grounds. In addition it is the duty of parents to insist upon their children keeping away from such, at any moment they may be called upon to sup a sorrow that only those who have been bereaved can understand.

A further source of danger to youths has appeared in the vicinity: a new one, in fact, through the installation of the electric light system.

The power is transmitted at a high voltage from Bassano, and is brought down to a point of safety after reaching the town limits.

Just east of the town there is a transformer, carrying a voltage from 2,200 to 7,000 volts. No one but an experienced electrician is permitted to approach or come in contact with this dangerous outfit.

The provincial regulation refuses to allow any steps upon the poles, and the platform above can only be reached with difficulty, except through the use of spurs.

Just a few days ago a motorist, in passing, discovered one of the town youths up on this forbidden platform notwithstanding the warning sign prohibiting anyone going on the platform. Here the young lad was simply flung with instant death, and how he escaped is simply miraculous.

It cannot be too strongly impressed upon parents, the absolute necessity of keeping in touch with local danger conditions and further exercising their parental authority in the interests of the little fellows whose inexperience carry them into the danger zones.

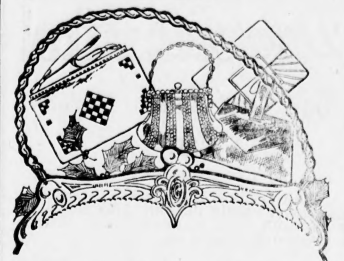

The old adage "An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure" is very applicable to these conditions.

If the ratepayers do not wish to shovel snow, and in many places they do not, then arrangements should be made for the town to remove all the snow by using snow plows.

"Canada's Part in the Great War"

Canada's part in the Great War was on honorable one. As soon as war was declared, which was on August 4th, 1914, Canada offered to assist the Commonwealth as shown in the Duke of Connaught's message to the British Government.

"The Canadian people will put forth every effort and make every sacrifice necessary to insure the integrity and maintain the honor of the Empire."

Having no standing army she began at once to raise an expeditionary force by voluntary enlistment, and by the beginning of October a division of thirty-three thousand men was on its way across the sea, the largest field that crossed the Atlantic. Since that time, the number was raised to over half a million, four hundred thousand of whom crossed the sea. Altogether about one-third of Canada's population enlisted.

There were 51, 116 Canadian soldiers killed, 4,900 decorated, and 2,623 died in Canada, making a total of 58,654.

The first Canadian unit to take its place in the battle line was the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, a unit that played an honorable part throughout the war.

At first an effort was made to keep the units entire as they enlisted, but as the war went on, this was found to be very difficult, if not impossible. After having crossed the sea, the soldiers were trained in England, then to the battle fields of France. One of the marvelous things to relate is that no Canadian soldier was lost in transport, in spite of the efforts made by the U-boats of the enemy.

Some of the engagements in which the forces took part are as follows:

In 1915 the Battle of Neuve Chapelle which was the second battle of Ypres, where the Germans first used poison gas and where the Canadians held the line for four days and blocked the road to Calais. Then St. Elloi, Sanctuary Wood, House, the Battle of the Somme and Courcellette, were fought in 1916. At the Battle of the Somme, the British, for the first time, used armored tanks. Also at this battle the Canadians were noted for their very excellent work rendered.

Vimy Ridge was next fought in 1917, and here the Canadians specially distinguished themselves. In the same year the Battle of Lens, Hill 70, and Passchendaele were fought. At Passchendaele many perished as it was like a sea of mud.

The Second Battle of the Somme, Amiens, Monchy-lez-Reux, the breaking of the Queen-Droucourt line, the crossing of Canal du Nord, and Bourlon Wood, Darnai, Valenciennes, and the capture of Mons the morning of the signing of the Armistice, were the chief events in which the Canadians took part in the year 1917.

All these are honored names that have been sacred to us by the blood of Canadian heroes. In every service, whether the infantry or the cavalry, the artillery, the forestry or the construction corps or the air force, our Canadian soldiers won great praise for their daring, endurance and initiative.

During the war the women at home also showed their splendid qualities and service by making clothing for the soldiers at the front. Many millions of dollars worth of food and clothing crossed the Atlantic for the Canadian heroes.

In this great work at home and overseas, Canada showed her love for the Mother Country and strong bonded the bonds between them.

"THE SQUARE DEAL STORE"

Bill Wilkinson and Councillor Bailey are neighbors in the west end district and the other day, before Wilkinson developed blood poison in his hand, went out hunting together. Bill impressed upon "Fiddling" that it was really a trap shot, and that the story related by Percy Parish about his marriage was just caused by jealousy. The two of them wandered around and finally discovered a weasel. Bill was in high glee, the hour had come when he was going to establish the reputation he had in the army of being the most promising candidate for the King's Prize at Bileley. Having marched in a location that suited Gunter Wilkinson, he took position and remained steady at the same time he wanted to save the skin of the animal from the track. That point, would shoot him through the head. He wasted ten good rounds, and in a half disturbed, and strange to say, a the weasel never attempted to leave. The worthy councillor became suspicious, and moved towards where the weasel was located, and discovered it had been caught in a trap. Bill maintains that Parish had been using the .22 rifle and had ruined it.

Auctioneer Layzell very successfully handled Casey Lawry's sale last Saturday, and notwithstanding the inclement weather, succeeded in putting over a fine sale, that pleased Casey very much, as he remarked: "I am satisfied."

Work has been proceeding at the Canadian Pacific station, erecting a breakwater to prevent unruly teams from crossing the track. This point, The work is being completed by the Pete de Kori Contracting and Supply a half disturbed, and strange to say, a

LOCAL NOTINGS

Next Friday night, November 26, the Elks are putting on a dance and Ben Peterson is a "busy boy" in rushing for the extra supply of "cats milk". This is a very scarce article on the prairie, and Ben has experienced no little difficulty in completing his arrangements.

"Jinlay Crickadee", remarked Fred Anderson, "the Elks are sure going to have a swell dance on Friday night, November 26. Well, the gang have just got to no some to equal the Tonis Club's dance a few weeks ago, but it looks now that it will be a dandy."

Wilfred Gardner says Rexall Red is losing more time about the Elks dance on November 26, than he did over the Tonis Club's dance and the "Jinlay's" bride" combined. "Why," said Wilfred, "can't you keep him around long enough to write a pay cheque, and I promised to send Miranda her Xmas present early."

Mrs. A. W. Morton was among those from Calgary attending the play "The Minister's Bride", given in the Memorial Hall last Thursday. She, paying a visit of a day with her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Waker, as well.

Strathmore Trading Company are holding a sale in order to secure more space for Xmas goods, and, as Mr. Strathmore coyly remarks, also to secure a little cash. You need the goods and he says he needs the money. The values offered look mighty good — you had better look them over.

The teachers and pupils of the respective schools throughout the Bow Valley are very much keyed up in anticipation of the spelling contest in the Memorial Hall on Friday, December 2nd. This contest revives for many of the older residents happy and pleasant memories of their school days, when the spelling contest was a weekly affair and looked forward to with the greatest pleasure. This feature has since been developed into the competitive stage between schools, which, in addition to being particularly beneficial, is a most interesting form of entertainment.

Harry Thorburn of the Strathmore Hotel, and Frank Miller, of the King Edward, left for Edmonton on Tuesday to attend the convention of hotel men, which is being held this week. Harry says he will see that Frank benefits himself.

Auctioneer Layzell has booked for James Mackenzie a sale on Tuesday, November 30, near Standard. This is one of the best sales that he has been privileged to handle in the Bow Valley, and he has had some good ones. After laying off last week all summer, the gifted old Knight of the Hammer is in rare form this fall; as full of pep as some of the two-year-olds that he has in training, and with which he dreams each night of capturing the Alberta Derby.

C. J. Herne, of Nightingale, is leaving shortly for Norway, England, where he expects to land to enjoy his Xmas plum pudding in the land of John Bull. C. J. Herne is returning single, but was exceedingly successful regarding his transportation requirements for the return voyage.

D. A. Perry, the much sympathized with, bespeckled husband in the "Minister's Bride", gave an exhibition of handling a crosscut saw, recently which warned the hearts of a number of people whose only days were spent in the environment of the woods of Ontario, where expert sawyers are the rule, and create no surprise in the dexterous manner in which they are able to handle the odd one wood saw. Miranda was not present.

The spelling match, which will be held among pupils from the schools of the Bow Valley district, in the Memorial Hall on Friday, December 2nd is creating a very lively interest, and the keen rivalry that exists, promising well for a most exciting contest. Everyone interested in the well-being of the pupils should be a special effort to be present and encourage the teachers and pupils, who have put in endless hours in preparation for this event.

Miss Strong of the Public School Staff spent the week end at Rockyford.

Bill Wilkinson, who returned from Harry Grove's farm, where he performed as chef, in rather run down condition, has no devoted his horse to his left hand. The rest of the crew are still in good health.

Encourage the teaching staff through out the Bow Valley by attending the spelling match in the Memorial Hall on Friday, December 2nd. The contest is most helpful to the pupils, the primary object, and is a addition will provide you with a very pleasant and profitable evening's entertainment.

Mr. A. A. Saar, two miles west of Strathmore, has decided to return to the United States, and is holding a big sale on Saturday, December 4, and has engaged A. Layzell the Calgary auctioneer, for the occasion. At the same time and place Layzell will also dispose of the goods and chattels of Leon Mertens, who has decided to give up farming.

J. Forbes Grahame is fully installed as the rental boniface at the Carlsbad Chateau, where he will endeavor to make the weary travellers wait to come back. He has been as busy as a sea pirate, decorating the rooms, securing new furniture, and making arrangements to open a dining room. Grahame says he cannot understand what Grahame was scratching about in not being able to "handle" the "Smithy" to work. Grahame's trouble has been to get Smithy to let up and not bring on heart failure. It all depends on how you handle these birds, while "Smithy" smiles the smile that won't come off, and also states, it all depends on how you handle these fellows — and well — satisfied.

On Monday and Tuesday everyone noticed that "Mat" Barber was being around most energetically, full of pep, and making Frank Craddock's life miserable. However, the cause has been located, he was just busy planning arrangements for the Big Turkey shoot at Strathmore on Wednesday, December 1st. "Mat" quickly whispered to the Standard that he would show that bunch of nincoms a few tricks in shooting. "Why," said he, "I was only looking last Summer when I let Whitehouse, Barnett, and Leslie West trim me. Furthermore, my arm was a little off, and I was also trying to keep "Rexall Red" in line, and you have no idea what a strain that was for a red shot like I am. Now, it is everyone for himself and the devil take the hind most. Me for the turkeys."

Nels White is around visiting the business men in the interests of the Skating Ring. This organization provides good healthy sport, under safe conditions for the youngsters of the town, and needs the support of the community. The sources of revenue are very limited, hence the need of your liberality. Help to provide amusement for the kiddies, primarily, but many of the adults like to get a skate on.

Dr. T. Moore, is a pretty good natured fellow, and so, in allowing the babies during the past few days the presence of Mr. and Mrs. George Carlson, at Nightingale, with a son, while to play square in the matter of sex domination, he brought to the home of Alex Peterson a daughter.

The Standard asked "Mat" Barber on Tuesday "how was the hardware business?" "I don't know," he said, "go and ask Craddock. I am too busy looking after the Big Strathmore Turkey Shoot to be keeping track of the hardware game." "You know."

said Barber, "this Turkey Shoot is going to be the real thing, and I intend to grab off a bunch of those big turkeys. Turkeys are dandies."

Elmer Jenkins, of the Telephone staff, passed through Strathmore on Wednesday's train from Hanna, enroute for Bassano. Judging from the greeting he received here, Elmer does not think that "Bassano is the best town by a dam site." Too bad that the train did not remain over for a couple of hours for repairs or any old reason — only remain.

Most people have troubles of their own, which usually are a sufficiency; not so with Thos. E. Wright, who gaily saunters around town with the smile that won't come off, who has imported an expert trouble fixer, who will be at his store on Monday, November 29th, until 2 p.m. This gentleman is a past master in fixing up foot troubles, and his services are free. What more could you ask?

Deputy Mayor Schulte will retire

LEON J. LAUNIER, M.P. Though returned at the last election to the Federal seat for Vancouver South, he is said to have thrown his hat into the ring of provincial politics to oppose Hon. W. J. Bowser for the leadership of the Conservative party in British Columbia.

ROCKYFORD

At the Rockyford Drug & Confectionery, with every fifty cent purchase a ticket will be given, which will entitle the holder to one chance on a Fancy Dressed Sleeping Doll, which will be drawn for on Xmas Eve.

Much has been said in these columns on the subject of shopping at home, both the merits and demerits of sending money away have been argued from all view points. When all is said and done, it both tends to the fact that unless you can buy as well at home as at the mail order houses, there is no point in doing so. Of course it is a great advantage to be able to go before buying, and also there is the credit side of the business to be taken into consideration. If people want credit they must be prepared in reason to pay for it. A glance through the stores in Rockyford these days will, I am sure, convince the most hardened mail order enthusiast that here at least there is nothing more to be desired, either in the choice of goods, or the price, therefore buy your Xmas goods at home, not out of any sentimental ideas, or supporting your home town, although of course that is a most laudable desire, but because you will actually save money by doing so.

Don't forget the Union Church bazaar on December 2nd.

M. D. Grasswood Council Meeting

— ON —

A regular meeting of the Municipal District of Grasswood, No. 248, was held at Rockyford on November 6th.

All councillors being present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved as read.

Mr. Feckley being present at the meeting reported to the Council that two of his horses had been impounded on the 26th day of September last, and that he went to the pound to redeem said horses, but the pound keeper could not deliver same, due to the fact that the horses had disappeared unbeknown to him, the pound keeper on the night of September 28.

Under these conditions Mr. Feckley stated that the Council would be responsible to him for said horses. It was moved and carried that Mr. Feckley would wait until Spring, when the Council would endeavor to locate the horses, if not, some settlement would be made to which Mr. Feckley agreed.

It was on motion decided that the Secretary was to write Mr. E. A. Vixar pound keeper at Rosedale in accordance with the above resolution.

The Council then adjourned for lunch. Pursuant to adjournment the Council was called to order at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Art Davis, of Drumheller being present stated to the Council that some sort of an arrangement would be required to be made in the way of a road diversion in N. E. 32-27-24 in order to keep the traffic from trespassing on her land. It was then moved by the Council that a road diversion be made, beginning on the quarter section line between 32 and 33, thence running one half mile due West and thence one half mile due North, connecting up with the Township line running east and west. This resolution was passed, subject to the inspection of the Council, which would be made on November 9th.

It was moved and carried that due to the fact that a clerical error was made of $400.00 in the extension of the assessed valuation on the N. W. 1/4 of 26-27-24, therefore, the secretary was instructed to make this correction on the tax roll and cancel taxes in accordance.

The Secretary was on motion instructed to deduct four acres from the N. W. 14-27-24. Said acres had been taken from road allowance in the year 1921, therefore, the secretary is hereby instructed to cancel accrued taxes on said four acres.

It was on motion decided that the Secretary was to issue the office building for $2,000.00 and office fixtures for $1,000.00.

There will also be a candy stall, where good home-made candy can be bought. What will perhaps appeal more to the youngsters is the dance that is being held afterwards. Letter to the Editor

Editor, Strathmore Standard

Dear Sir:

There appeared in the last issue of the Standard an article entitled "The Blank in Modern Civilization," in which were some statements which I feel should not go unchallenged.

The writer states that the Western Canadian student is unpatriotic. On what grounds does Mr. Walker base this assertion? It is possible that we in Canada do not wear our patriotism on our sleeves and make a noisy demonstration of it, as is done in some countries. I maintain that, far from being unpatriotic, the Western Canadian is at heart a patriot in the very best meaning of the word. Surely the facts of the Great War are sufficient answer to any charge of unpatriotism against Canadians.

It would be interesting to know how "the close survey of the whole school system," of which Mr. Walker speaks, was made. It has certainly led him into some erroneous impressions. I wonder if the writer of the article in question really knows the content of our provincial Course of Studies.

The following are extracts from the aims and functions of secondary education as laid down by the Department of Education:

1. To prepare the individual for efficient participation in the duties of social, civil, political and family life;
2. To prepare the student to become an efficient economic citizen;
3. To prepare the student for the activities whose primary purposes are personal development and personal happiness through the correct use of his leisure time.

Mr. Walker states that in the History and Civil Government courses he (the pupil) is taught to memorize only hard and dry facts." I again quote from aims in teaching, these courses:

Above all he should be taught that, as far as possible, he should discard preconceptions and prejudices when he approaches any social problem, and should go whether the facts, in the light of reason, lead him.

Mr. Walker says "Remember to be the keynote of our whole school system." Of course the schools should train the memory, but it is of more importance to train our pupils to think for themselves, and I believe our schools are doing this. To give just one instance: In the old days Oral Reading was of paramount importance, whereas today Silent Reading is the phase that is stressed. Our Course of Studies say, "It seems only sensible, therefore, that the major part of the reading time in school should be used for practice in silent reading."

I think the story told by Mr. Walker about the teacher who sent a pupil from the class for thinking is rather a weak argument. Does he wish to give the impression that this is a usual occurrence? The fact is that the great majority of teachers use, in their daily work, every possible device that will encourage the pupils to become independent thinkers.

The above conclusions have been arrived at not "by a close survey covering a period of several months," but by seven years actual teaching in the province.

Thanking you, I am, Sir,

Yours truly,

S. H. CROWTHER

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson H. Walte, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

THAT advertising is the most effective of all weapons in the fight for business.

THAT some business concerns are constantly giving excuses for not doing more business. Excuses and wishes will never bring business.

THAT now is the time for them to stop running in a treadmill—quit going around in circles; they should take the straight road.

THAT modern business men plan their course, chart the route they would follow to better business and go straight ahead. Laggards should follow their example.

THAT no business can be greater than the minds of its owners will have it.

THAT successful business men not only advertise continuously but live it. They plan, dream it, and throw the weight of their personality and ambitions into it, and by so doing, make a worth-while business.

WHAT you have to say about you have to sell through the printed page is what does the most to sell.

YOU must make up your mind to fight for business. Unless you put all your force behind your efforts and fight to win, you will soon be like some unpractised ones who still barely manage to keep on earth.

U. F. A. CONVENTION
The annual gathering of the United Farmers of Alberta will be held in Edmonton this year, on January 15, 19, 20 and 21.

UNITED CHURCH NOTES
At the Young People's Society last Tuesday evening, the Literary Convention, Miss Strong, had for a program "A Kipling-Night", and the item was arranged with much care. Papers and addresses of Kipling and selections from his writings were given by a number of the members, including Miss Strong, Donald James, Howard Kent, Ted James, and others. Mr. G. H. Patrick helped very much in the program by singing a Kipling song. Despite zero weather and blocked roads, there was a very successful sale of food, conducted by the Ladies Aid on Saturday last. A good number of fancy and useful articles were exhibited for sale, along with the usual afternoon tea, home-cooking, candy, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Hirtle, with their well-known generosity, placed their theatre at the disposal of the Ladies Aid for this purpose.

A large number of local men have again this year contributed to the work of the Boys' Work Board of Alberta, by taking shares from the Trail Riders. We will announce next week how much was contributed. This money goes entirely to the Boys' Work Board, 502 10 O.P. Building, Calgary. $5,000 is needed from the Trail Riders of the Province this year for our part of the salary of the Boys' Secretary, Mr. Gordon Lapp, for our share of the expenses of the Boys' Parliament, which meets in Xmas holidays, and which legislates for the for the Canadian Standard Efficiency Training in Alberta, and for our contribution towards necessary literature, and deficits at Boys' Summer Camps.

The C.A.E.T. is a system of religious education for boys, and is boy-organized and boy-legislated. Thanks is hereby given to those men (and women, if any) who gave their contributions to local Trail Riders. In this organization there is absolutely no sectarian bias, but there is attempted, sincere Christian Training for full citizenship.
